

Upcoming events

- The EFAD's 9th Conference has been announced! After the great experience of last year's conference in Athens (you can read the report of the students programme here), we are looking forward to this year's conference. The 9th EFAD Conference will take place in Amsterdam, on 23-24 October 2015 and will offer a student programme with interactive workshops, interesting presentations and social activities. The specific conference programme will be published soon, but you can read a first information here.
- ENDietS attends the german speaking conference NUTRITION 2015 in Bregenz (28-30 May 2015), with an exhibition stand and slides during the conference breaks. Find more information and the conference programme on the webpage here. We hope to see you there!

ENDietS activities

- The 1st ENDietS webinar took place on March 26 with the participation of more than 100 people from 16 different countries! During the webinar, attendees raised many questions about the interesting presentations and received answers in real time by the presenters. Your participation and feedback is the best motivation to continue organizing more webinars in the near future!
You can watch the 1st webinar again on our ENDietS YouTube Channel here.
- The latest issue of the EFAD Newsletter (March 2015) is now available, with a special reference to ENDietS on page 8. To read the newsletter please click here.
- ENDietS will inform you about upcoming study opportunities and they will be uploaded on the ENDietS website and ENDietS Facebook page. The latest news is about an internship position within the Nutrition & Health department of Unilever R&D Vlaardingen for MSc students and you can read it here.

Trending on ENDietS Facebook page

- The latest video of the European Food Information Council (EUFIC) about "Energy Balance", might be interesting to recommend when counseling on this topic. To watch the video click here.
- Laura from Spain brought to our attention "That sugar film" (watch trailer here) and the whole project involving education in schools that is organized (read about the project here).
- Students shared delicious recipes from Estonia (Kama) and Greece (Kapama, Spanakopita)
- A girl asked for recommendation about a dietetic book in English and inspired by the quick answer she received, we invite everyone to share suggestions and ideas on books.

- Information for the day of health profession and their interdisciplinary work in the health-care system, in Berlin 17-18 April 2015.
- Interesting presentation from our sustainability anchor Giralda, on 'The future of Food & feeding the world in 2050'.
- The interesting article "Integrating mobile technology with routine dietetic practice: the case of myPace for weight management" was uploaded on full version.
- This month, interesting introduction cards presenting our promotion and recruitment anchors (Spyros and Amée) and education anchors (Tauri and Ksenia).
- You can find photos of the students activities of the last year's EFAD conference in Athens.
- ENDietS also brought under attention the following events: The Diabetes World Summit, Meat Free Week and LiveWell webinar.

New on ENDietS Youtube Channel

- Instructions for our ENDietS webinars \(through GoToWebinar\)
Useful instructions for joining the ENDietS webinars!
- 1th ENDietS Webinar on 26.03.2015 - part 1
A presentation about ENDietS by our presidents, with promotion of the 9th Conference in Amsterdam (23-24 October)
- 1th ENDietS Webinar on 26.03.2015 - part 2
A poster presentation about: "National Dietary Survey Among Children and Adults: an Opportunity for Students to Learn More About Dietary Habits in Estonia" by Ksenia Ksentitskaja and Tauri Kiisma

Other news

- The "buddy-system" for the 9th EFAD conference in Amsterdam is in a planning stage and we kindly invite all Dutch students to support this action, by providing accommodation or guidance for other foreign students. If you would like to help, please get in contact with us: ENDietS@efad.org
- As our Network is rapidly growing and many activities are coming up soon, we are starting to look for sponsors who are willing to support ENDietS financially. We will announce more detailed information and offers very soon, but you can already send your proposals to the ENDietS@efad.org email.