

Call for nomination for membership of Professional Practice Committee (PPC) member

The PPC is currently addressing issues including:

- Professional Care Process for dietitians and related terminology (ICF and NCPT)
- National registration/ recognition of dietitians in Europe/ European Voluntary Register of specialist dietitians
- Ethics and related emerging areas that dietitians are likely to face in their professional practice
- Development of guidelines for getting evidence base of care into practice
- Patient reported outcome measures (PROM) and patient reported experience measures (PREM)
- Developing a dashboard of registration in member associations/countries

Members of the PPC should have knowledge of EFAD's EuDAP, strategic plan, at least one aspect of the work of the committee and be prepared to actively contribute to that work. Often times this work entails cross collaborations with other standing EFAD committees.

The PPC meets virtually once every other month and face to face twice a year, as funding allows. Usually the second face to face meeting coincides with dates of the EFAD's annual conference. Also, PPC members undertake work on reports etc. between its meetings.

Committee members, who should be nominated by an EFAD member association for their skills and experience in professional practice and their capacity to contribute to the work of the PPC, they do not necessarily need to be members of EFAD Member Associations, although this would be preferable.

EFAD will pay the travel and subsistence expenses incurred in attending face to face committee meetings, as funding allows.
