

EFAD ESDN Oncology Mission and Vision

Mission

To support dietitians in Europe to take a leading role in the management of diet and nutrition, through evidence based treatment and interventions, through all phases of cancer (from primary prevention to those living with and beyond cancer). To support dietitians as the experts in nutritional aspects of cancer including support on treatment, nutritional aspects of late effects of treatment and secondary prevention.

Vision

The vision is for Dietitians to be the leaders in all aspects of nutrition for people diagnosed with cancer. The ESDN Oncology will achieve this vision through supporting the development of Dietetic specialist oncology groups enabling the exchange of knowledge and practice with the committee and between member National Dietetic Associations.

- Networking and discussion of the role of the specialist oncology Dietitian
- The sharing of evidence based resources and guidelines
- Development of expert practice for Oncology Dietitians
- Supporting the development of Oncology Dietitians to link with national policy, initiatives and projects that require specialist knowledge from Oncology Dietitians
